LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon said Friday "Mr. (Goodwin J.) Knight's charge that an unnamed individual representing me offered him a job to stay out of the race for governor is false and libelous on its face."

Nixon, former Republican vice president, who announced Wednesday night that he will seek California's governorship, made his remarks in a statement phoned to news media.

Knight said Thursday a Nixon representative offered him the post of chief justice of the California Supreme Court, or any other state job he wants, if he would abandon his candidacy for governor.

Its manufacturer says it provides a permanent record of individual exposure to fallout and can be worn or carried at all times.

Three-Year Program For Flagler Run Is Outlined

(Editor's Note: This is the last of two articles on the proposed Monroe County Memorial Community Forest Park.)

A THREE-PHASE recreation plan to bring it into being are outlined by Eugene F. McNamara, district forester and secretary of the Pocono Forestry Assn. In a prospectus on the proposed Monroe County Memorial Community Forest Park approved this week by Stroudsburg Municipal Authority.

According to McNamara, the area could be used for youth programs, picnicking, hiking and general recreation and fishing.

He points out that Boy Scouts and other youth groups continuously require worthy local projects in conservation and nature study to fulfill requirements for advanced rank.

Providing suitable sites for such projects has long been a problem to leaders of such groups, he adds. He feels that the memorial community forest park would provide such a site and a wide range of projects designed to be beneficial to the area and suitable to the abilities of individuals and groups could be laid out to satisfy these needs for a long time.

Established Area
The district forester feels that with the establishment of certain improvements, a picknicking area could be established. These include provision of an adequate and safe supply of water and sanitary facilities. Tables and fireplaces could be supplied by donation and he also suggests hiking trails to the lake, over open fields and through the woods leading from the picnic area.

He also suggests labeling and identifying trees and plants as an educational project and development of parts of the woods as a herbarium and wildlife sanctuary.

A four-acre lake already exists on the property, providing reasonably good fishing. McNamara suggests that the assistance of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission might be sought in developing the potential of sport fishing on the lake and that sportman's groups might sponsor fishing tournaments for youngsters.

He also suggests the area could be open to limited public hunting or developed, with help of the Pennsylvania Game Com-

California governor, said Thursday if Nixon denied his allegation he would name names. Friday Knight replied to Nixon with this statement: "I accept the challenge of Richard Nixon. I will disclose the name of Nixon's pressure emissary and present my proof and witnesses at a public press conference. I will do so within a very few days."

Nixon added: "I demand that Mr. Knight and every newspaper and television and radio station which carried this charge publish a retraction."

"I have never made any promises of any kind to Knight or any other individuals to keep them out of the race for governor."

"No person representing me or authorized by me has made such a promise."

"And no promises or deals of any kind will be made in the future to get anybody out of this or any other race."

Gov. Edmund C. Brown, a Democrat expected to run for reelection in the 1962 race, said if Knight's charges are true "it is the most shocking political scandal in the history of the state."

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—John Krehbiel of Los Angeles, California Republican state chairman, accused Goodwin J. Knight Friday of political blackmail in the race for governor.

Knight charged in Los Angeles Thursday that an unnamed emissary of Richard M. Nixon offered him a secret deal to withdraw from the contest for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

"Preposterous," Krehbiel said, adding in an interview: "Nixon didn't even tell me or his office staff whether he would or would not run for governor."

Krehbiel, who is backing Nixon, said he didn't know his decision until his announcement Wednesday night.

"There was scuttlebutt a long time ago," he said, "that Knight was going to get into the race for political blackmail."

Nixon and Knight never have gotten along politically. Nixon supported former Sen. William F. Knowland for governor in 1958, the year that Knight withdrew his bid for reelection as governor and ran instead for the Senate.

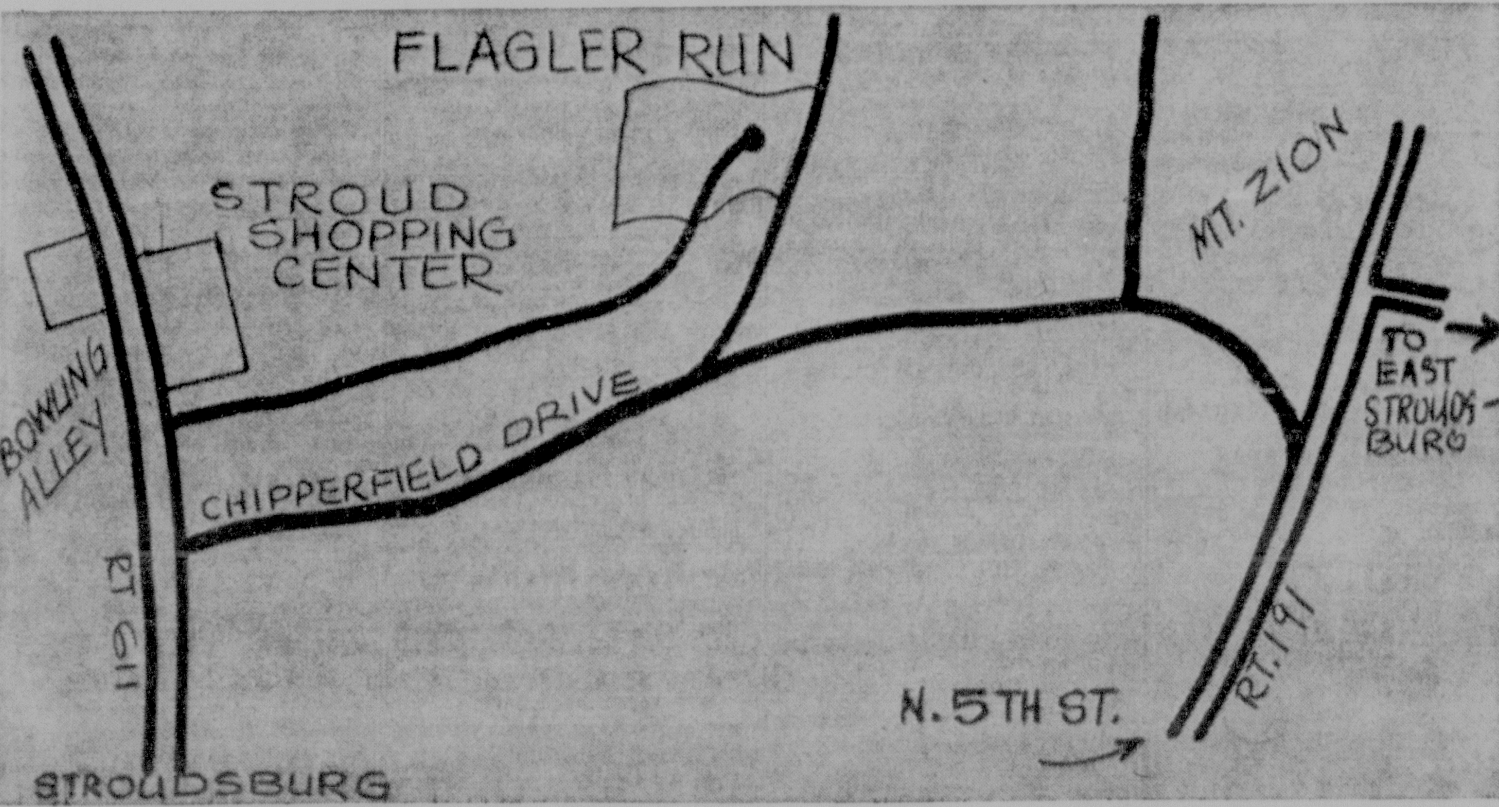

Joseph Martin Jr., of San Francisco, Republican national committeeman for California, also told reporters he knew of no reason why Nixon should want to get Knight out of the 1962 gubernatorial primary.

mission. Into a game refuge.

First-Year Program
The first year program for development of the area calls for widening of the access road to 16 feet with drainage as required, construction of a 20-car parking area near the center of the tract, laying out of a nature trail and labeling of trees around the lake and marking mature trees in the woodlot and Black Locust near the lake for possible sale.

The second year program would include planting of Japanese Larch, Scotch and Austrian Pine, construction of a large double latrine with water tight pit, development of a field for softball and other athletic events or as an organized camp site, establishment of an adequate and safe water supply, construction of a one-half mile nature trail and provision for 12 picnic tables, four small fireplaces and four trash receptacles.

The program for the third year would include continued planting of trees, 12 more picnic tables, four more fireplaces and trash receptacles, repair and maintenance of the lake dam and improvement of facilities already provided.

SITE OF FLAGLER RUN—Sketch shows the location of the Flagler Run forest project as proposed by the Monroe County Memorial Community Forest Park. The community forest park would be easily accessible from Route 611 or Route 191 via Chipperfield Drive in Stroud Township.

NLRB Rules Agency Shop Is Legal Unit

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board has ruled that the agency shop is a lawful form of union security contract under the Taft-Hartley law.

Under the agency shop, nonunion workers are required to pay union dues usually equal to the fees and dues paid by members as a condition of employment.

The board's 4-1 decision reversed a 3-2 ruling it handed down last February in an Indiana case involving General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers.

The current decision may be appealed.

The majority opinion Friday was signed by two new members appointed by President Kennedy—Chairman Frank W. McCulloch and Gerald A. Brown—and by two members who were in the minority last February, Philip Ray Rodgers and John H. Fanning. Former Chairman Boyd Leedom dissented.

Leedom, Fanning and Rodgers were appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Under the new ruling, General Motors is ordered to bargain with the UAW on an agency shop arrangement to cover 14,000 nonunion GM workers in nine plants in Indiana.

Indiana is one of 19 states having right-to-work laws which forbid requiring union membership as a condition of employment.

A board spokesman said the decision does not create a binding precedent in the 18 other states with such laws, although it obviously would carry weight.

The decision in similar cases arising in the other states, he said, would depend on the circumstances and the phrasing of the state law.

About 6 per cent of union contracts now contain an agency shop arrangement. The device has been pushed by labor unions in recent years as a substitute for compulsory membership.

U.S. Affirms Its Right To Cross Border

BERLIN (AP) — The United States was reported Friday to have stressed firmly to the Soviet Union that the U.S. Army has the right to send any vehicle it likes along the autobahn between West Germany and Communist-surrounded Berlin.

Informed sources said the U.S. commandant in Berlin, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, made the assertion Tuesday in a talk with the Soviet commander in East Berlin, Col. Andrei I. Solov'yev.

A U.S. spokesman said Watson discussed the detention of two American soldiers on the autobahn Sept. 21. The two, Pfc. Lawrence D. Edgar of San Bruno, Calif., and Pfc. Rocco F. Tomani, of Danbury, Conn., were held up by East German police for six hours while traveling in their privately owned car from Berlin to Helmstedt, where they are stationed.

Watson sent a strong protest to the Russians the next day, calling the delay a breach of four-power rules that military travelers on the autobahn can be controlled only by the Russians themselves.

The Army added that its jeep patrols to assist military travelers were being increased. Informants said this brought a protest from the Soviet Union, which claimed that resuming autobahn patrols would violate long-standing practice. At this, Watson called on Solov'yev to reassure the Army's rights in this field.

Syria Leaves UAR; Nasser Yields

GSA Approves New Jobs Totalling $4.5 Million

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority turned its insurance over to the state Friday. It estimated it will save $377,000 over a five-year period through lower premiums.

The board also approved $4.5 million in new projects and added $987,673 to projects previously approved.

The decision to discontinue placing its own insurance on GSA buildings was prompted by Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt, a board member.

The GSA now has buildings insured for $285,449.109. The premium was estimated at $1,299,099, paid over a five-year period.

Miss Blatt said that by handling the insurance through the Department of Property and Supplies, a saving of $377,000 could be realized over that period.

The department, which insures all other state property except that under the state highways and bridge and school building authorities, gets a lower rate because of its volume.

In a side development, the board agreed to Miss Blatt's suggestion that a study be made of insurance placed on buildings scheduled for condemnation. Miss Blatt questioned the wisdom of this practice and Gov. Lawrence, chairman of the board, agreed that it should be given study.

The new projects approved at the 45-minute meeting included: Indiana State College—purchase of Thaddeus Stevens Elementary School, Indiana, for college classroom building, $300,000; new substitution and distribution system, $250,000.

Pennsylvania State University—facilities for nuclear study and research, $295,857.

Gallitzin State Park, Cambria County—sanitary disposal facilities, water supply system, day use area, marina, park improvements, $2,049,730.

The GSA agreed to use up to $123,000 for land purchase at the various state colleges to insure completion of proposed acquisition.

Miss Reis Got Commission, Furrier Says

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A one-time furrier testified Friday he jacked up prices in order to give Lillian Reis "a sort of cash commission" on fur coats and stoles bought for her by Clyde (Bing) Miller.

The witness was Bernard Kirschner, of Wynote, a Philadelphia suburb, who said he is now in the used truck business.

The 32-year-old Miss Reis, Philadelphia night club owner, is on trial for the August, 1959, burglary at the home of John B. Rich, Pottsville coal mine operator.

Miller, 55, himself a former mine operator, is a co-defendant and is scheduled to be tried next. Three men were convicted last spring for a part in the alleged burglary conspiracy, which by police reckoning, yielded loot of nearly a half million, and by Rich's testimony, little more than $20,000 in cash and jewelry.

Kirschner said he did a lot of business with Miss Reis and Miller, who in three days of testimony left no doubt that for years he was enamored of her.

Kirschner said he sold Miss Reis from $10,000 to $13,000 worth of furs, including a full length ranch mink coat, a light beaver coat and a light colored mink stole.

Under questioning by Calvin Friedberg, the witness said: "On some occasions we raised the price a little bit—a sort of commission for Miss Reis, Miller had no knowledge of it."

Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier asked: "Let's get this straight. Say something cost $1,200; you would make it $1,500. Is that right?"

Nodding, the witness replied: "She asked me to raise the price so she could have the difference."

Friedberg asked who picked up the furs, Kirschner said, "on one occasion her husband came in."

"Who was that?" asked Friedberg.

"It was Mike Corabi."

Miller testified Wednesday that when he met Miss Reis in December, 1953, she was married to Corabi but told him, "I'm not working at it."

Friedberg, addressing the jury of five women and seven men at the start of the trial, said Miss Reis and Corabi are separated but that no divorce action has been concluded.

Hammaraskjöld Is Buried In Royal Simplicity

By EDDY GILMORE
UPPSALA, Sweden (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary-general of the United Nations, was buried at his boyhood home Friday with honors heretofore given in Sweden only to royalty.

Regal simplicity marked the last journey of the aloof and dedicated diplomat who traveled so many miles in the cause of world peace and the United Nations.

Wrapped in the blue and gold flag of his native Sweden, his coffin at the end held but a single wreath. It was that of his king, Gustaf VI Adolf.

As the slanting sun set over the land, an order went out from the government for a nationwide moment of silence.

Everything—cars, trains, factories, ships and people—came to a halt.

Men from all over the world paid homage in Uppsala's 700-year-old Lutheran cathedral to the secretary-general who lost his life with 15 others in a plane crash on Sept. 18 while flying on a Congo peace mission.

Enters History
U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson expressed what probably was in the hearts of millions everywhere when he said: "The name of Dag Hammarskjöld has entered history—and history confers its highest honors for heroes of peace."

Representing President Kennedy, Johnson spoke briefly at a Swedish airport after flying here from the United States.

America's Ralph Bunche, under-secretary of the United Nations, probably voiced the thoughts of others when he said of his late chief: "We are like a crew that has lost its captain."

Members and representatives of foreign governments, U.N. officials, diplomats, friends and relatives of the Hammarskjöld family and high Swedish officials were among the 2,000 guests who filled the huge cathedral. The Soviet Union was represented by its ambassador here, Feodor Gusev. Present also was Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Walk Slowly
King Gustaf VI Adolf and Queen Louise walked slowly before the hushed crowd to the unadorned coffin, over which hung the Swedish flag.

The king stopped and bowed deeply—a unique tribute from a monarch to a commoner. The queen followed and she too bowed to the bier. They stood for a long time.

Then, with trembling hands, the 81-year-old archbishop-emeritus of Sweden, the Most Rev. Erling Eiden, took over.

"If on an evil day," intoned the archbishop, "the darkness claims me" and "I have no strength to carry the burdens of life, then, O Lord, your love will carry me through."

The churchman sprinkled earth over the bier and said: "From dust thou art come. Unto dust thou shalt return."

Then six students in their white university caps raised the casket and walked with it outside where it was laid on a royal carriage, another tribute to the U.N. officer.

Thousands of Hammarskjöld's countrymen stood in mute tribute as the catafalque rumbled by.

As the royal funeral carriage turned into the cemetery a few leaves fluttered over the open grave.

The coffin was slowly lowered. "Sleep you now in the garden of heaven," said the archbishop. "Rest in peace, Dag Hammarskjöld."

Syrian Break From UAR Causes New Arab Turmoil

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—Syria's bid to break away from the United Arab Republic plunged the quarreling Arab world into even greater turmoil Friday.

It also signaled a bitter new power struggle between President Gamal Abdel Nasser and other Mideastern leaders who may defy any moves to fulfill his battered dream of a united Arab empire led by Cairo.

These are the conclusions of Western authorities here after two major developments came in the wake of the clash between Damascus and Cairo:

1. Nasser proclaimed he would make no bargain with the Syrian rebels, but would not enforce union with military power.

2. King Hussein of Jordan recognized the anti-Nasser regime.

The British are not yet sure if the rebels are in effective control of the country, if they are in a position to fulfill Syria's international commitments, and, indeed, if they want to be recognized now.

Rushes Forward
The Foreign Office statement was made in the knowledge that King Hussein had rushed forward to give his small country's political backing—in the form of recognition—to the rebels.

This suggested that Hussein—often accused by Nasser as a British puppet—had acted on his own and on the assumption that the Syrian rebels will win out in the end. For Hussein would not lightly risk the wrath of Nasser, who has campaigned in the past for the downfall of the young king and the absorption of Jordan into the U.A.R.

Now the big question is whether other of Nasser's antagonists in the Middle East—and there are

Tremendous Setback For 'Arab Nation'

By WEBB MCKINLEY
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syria broke loose by armed force from the United Arab Republic Friday and President Nasser yielded with a decision not to counterattack militarily.

It was a tremendous setback for Nasser's long dreamed-of "Arab nation" that was to have encompassed the wide Arab-Moslem world eventually.

A Syrian civil government stepped in during the day to inaugurate a regime in Damascus totally apart from the Cairo government of Nasser. The U.A.R. lasted less than four years.

The new Syrian premier, Dr. Mamoun Kuzbari, a scholarly, conservative lawyer and professor of law, declared the government born of the Syrian officers' revolt that began Thursday has the Syrian peoples full support.

Kuzbari's all-civilian government was installed by the day-old revolutionary command in Damascus while Damascus broadcasts proclaimed independence from the leadership of Nasser.

Nasser, in Cairo, called back Egyptian army, air and naval forces that had been sent to crush the revolt originally. He bitterly admitted temporary defeat of his principles of Arab unity.

Recognized
Turkey and Jordan, long suspicious of Nasser's plans for union of Arab-Moslem countries, quickly recognized the Kuzbari government.

But another Arab world leader, Tunisia's Habib Bourguiba, sent Nasser a telegram expressing regret over the rebellion and hope that differences can be settled peacefully.

Cairo radio said the former Syrian strongman, Abdel Hamid Serraj, fired on "some (Syrian) forces" when they approached his home in Syria and that he presumably escaped.

Serraj resigned from the U.A.R. Cabinet Tuesday as vice president in charge of interior affairs and security—an all but empty job—and some observers believe his resignation helps precipitate the Syrian uprising. His role in the revolt, if any, remained obscure.

Gone Forever
Damascus radio declared "the (Nasser) regime of tyranny has gone forever." It accused Nasser of turning Syria into a prison, and it disputed his claims of Arab leadership.

Kuzbari, known as a brilliant lawyer and right-wing politician, was quoted by the radio as saying his government is "a product of the revolution backed by the will of the people."

The new premier and his Cabinet received authority from the revolutionary command to legislate by decree during a transition period prior to promised free elections.

Nasser meanwhile told a crowd of 100,000 in Cairo's Republic Square: "We lost some battles, but the final result was always for the principles for which we fought."

"Our aims are long-reaching, they do not depend on events of the hour," Nasser said, declaring, "the United Arab Republic must always remain a fortress for Arab nationalism."

Singer Sewing Heir Found Dead

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Newlywed Alfred Corning Clark, heir to the Singer sewing machine fortune, was found dead in bed Friday. He was 45.

An undertaker said Clark had died in his sleep.

He was married less than two weeks ago for the sixth time. His bride, a sometime artist and actress, is Alicia Darr Purdom, 32, former wife of actor Edmund Purdom.

Clark had not been known to be ill.

Clark was a great-grandson of Edward Clark, cofounder of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. with Isaac Merrill Singer.

Before his latest marriage, he gave his intended a diamond engagement ring reported to have cost $36,000. He said he expected her to continue painting, but not acting.

Parson To Parson

By R. G. MacLeod

HAVE you ever noticed that when a minister or priest walks into a room conversation almost stops, and what little talk remains is said in a subdued whisper? It wonders me.

Most of the pastors that I know have a very keen wit and love a laugh. In fact, wearing the "cloth" does not mean that there is not a human being underneath. Why then, the hushed tone? Silly isn't it? Next time make them feel welcome and act as we would if our best friend just came in.

Another thought, if our conversation is not fitting for the occasion, then we had better think of directing the united choir, that will be singing each night.

World Wide Service

TOMORROW morning, Protestants around the world will join in the Lord's Supper in a concerted effort at world unity, through worship.

World Wide Communion, begun in 1940, draws together Christians all over the world. They will come together to worship and praise God, asserting their oneness in the kingdom of God.

Therefore, tomorrow, the Communion table will be in essence 25,000 miles long, binding the peoples of the world in a spiritual communion that breaks down barriers of language and space, making them truly brothers in Christ.

The day will begin at the International dateline in the Pacific. Rites will take place on the islands of Fiji, Samoa and Tonga. The natives will be called to worship by the sounds of drums.

As the day continues drawing Christians of Australia and India into the growing worshipers, church bells in steeples will call Europeans to join hands until the Americans are added to the circle of hands around the earth signifying the single purpose of Christians everywhere: brotherhood.

World Wide Communion is a glimpse of the future when the Kingdom of God comes on earth.

The churches often refuse to "face the facts" of life, says the Rev. J. Bruce Weaver, director of evangelism for the United Lutheran Church.

As a result, he adds, "the church is frequently spending great energy in completely earnest efforts to rescue men from traps in which they are not caught and to shelter her members from dangers which once may have been very real, but have long been replaced or transcended by evils of greater import."

Theologian Paul Tillich of Harvard University sees part of the problem as a Protestant "distortion of the Biblical meaning of sin," by which the doctrine of uni-

Religion Today: Protestant Leaders Level Hard Words At Own Church

Associated Press Religion Writer By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Some hard words are being leveled today at American Protestantism—by its own leaders.

To the dismay of some colleagues, they reproach the churches for a long list of asserted failures, and call for reforms.

Among the cited defects: Many Protestant churches are straining to be popular, rather than prophetic.

They give in to secular or worldly standards.

They are afraid of controversial but vital issues.

They concentrate on matters of little concern, and petty moralizing.

They emphasize bigness and organization, rather than spiritual quality.

The Protestant influence is waning in a "post-Protestant" era in America.

"We have been dried out by the hot winds of secularism," says Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Werner, Columbus, Ohio. "We who are to overcome the world have been overcome by the world. Our hunger for security and status has smothered our hunger for souls."

Similar worried appraisals have come from numerous other Protestant leaders.

The churches often refuse to "face the facts" of life, says the Rev. J. Bruce Weaver, director of evangelism for the United Lutheran Church.

As a result, he adds, "the church is frequently spending great energy in completely earnest efforts to rescue men from traps in which they are not caught and to shelter her members from dangers which once may have been very real, but have long been replaced or transcended by evils of greater import."

Theologian Paul Tillich of Harvard University sees part of the problem as a Protestant "distortion of the Biblical meaning of sin," by which the doctrine of universal human sin is replaced by a set catalogue of individual "sins."

"In the Bible," he says, "sin is seen in symbols and myths of greatness and inner power as the separation of everything human from the original unity of divine power."

This differs sharply from the "petty concept of 'sins' going on in many Protestant churches," he adds. "The church in many religious groups has become a social club and has lost its mythological or symbolic character as the assembly of God, or as the body of Christ."

Dr. Cynthia Clark Wedel, Washington, D.C., a vice president of the National Council of Churches, says too many churches reflect an image "compounded almost entirely of sweetness and light."

"We are afraid that if the church becomes involved in anything controversial, it will cease to be popular—people might leave or not want to come in," she says.

In contrast, she adds, the Lord was "so unpopular with the best people of His day that they crucified Him."

Churches Have Clothing Drive

THE FOUR churches of the Tannersville Parish, United Church of Christ is presently conducting a clothing drive for over-seas relief.

The drive will close Sunday and all members of the churches are urged to have the clothing in the churches this Sunday.

Following a dedication service for the clothing they will be taken to a collection center in Gilbert where they will be picked up and taken to New Windsor, Md., for shipment overseas.

New Formula Considered

EDITOR'S NOTE—At a time of challenge by hostile ideologies, Christian churches are seeking fresh ways to heal their ancient rifts. This article, last of three, tells about some far-reaching unity plans of the forthcoming assembly of the World Council of Churches.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

A new and dramatic formula is being considered to guide the movement toward Christian solidarity.

It would make a believer at home in any church anywhere, no matter what his denomination, without necessitating organizational mergers.

The provisions, drawn up by the proposed goal of the fast-growing ecumenical movement, will be acted on by the forthcoming general assembly of the World Council of Churches in New Delhi, India.

Up to now, the council has not spelled out the kind of inter-church unity it advocates—whether an undefined spiritual goodwill, structural merger, or workday cooperation, all of which have figured in the movement.

"The time is coming, and now is, when the recognized fishers of men must decide to fish or cut bait on this issue," says the Rev. Dr. J. Robert Nelson, a U.S. Methodist member of the commission that drafted the proposed new formula.

It would commit all churches holding the "one apostolic faith, preaching the same gospel and breaking the one bread" to full intercommunion, and acknowledgment of each other's baptism and ministry in every local community.

It also would commit the various churches to speak together when necessary, and to recognize their ties to all churches confessing Christ in all ages and places.

The council itself, the most broadly inclusive Christian assembly of all times, embraces 176 Protestant, Anglican, old Catholic and Eastern Orthodox denominations with about 250 million members in 52 nations.

"We would state emphatically that the unity we seek is not one of uniformity, nor a monolithic power structure," said the council's 100-member Faith and Order Commission, in recommending the new goal.

No consensus has been reached on how to achieve the interlocking, nonorganizational features, considering the varied interpretations of them, but they would be the goal of continued interchurch exploration, the commission said.

It added that accomplishing them would "involve nothing less than a death and rebirth for many forms of church life as we have known them."

Numerous other history-making decisions face the November assembly, which comes in the midst of an upsurge of Christian unity efforts that have now also captured Roman Catholic attention, and that of previously nonparticipating blocs of Orthodox.

The Russian and Rumanian Orthodox churches, long remote from the rest of Christendom, now seek membership. Most other Orthodox branches already belong. Entrance of the Iron Curtain churches presages new tensions, but broader representation.

Presbyterian Church Holds Rally Day Program

BELLS AROUND THE WORLD

The Indians could send a rallying call many, many miles by drums. Each drummer, stationed on a lonely ridge, would listen for the sound of distant drums, and relay the message to others waiting across the valley. Overnight a dozen tribes could be rallied to a common cause.

We don't need such crude methods of communication today. Men with a common purpose can join forces around the world at a pre-arranged time.

World Wide Communion Sunday is such an expression of unity. In every Christian land the church bells will summon men and women to the Lord's Supper on this Sunday.

And the universality of this great religious event will not depend on bells relaying the message from town to town. It will depend on folks like yourself coming to their Church to receive this Holy Sacrament.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Community Friend

A child swallows poison, a camper gets poison ivy, a housewife spills boiling water on her hand—these and many other problems face the community pharmacist every day. And he has the answers.

Well might the pharmacist be called health consultant and his pharmacy known as health information center. The pharmacist must be alert to the demands and requests not only of his neighbors and patrons, but of physicians as well. Both have come to depend on him as a source of information.

The physician calls for professional information—the latest advance in new drugs and the advantages and contraindications of the latest pharmaceuticals. The members of the community call on him for advice on a variety of problems—wounds, allergies, drug reactions, directions for taking medications, information on first-aid, polio vaccinations and the use of such devices as syringes, needles and thermometers.

The pharmacist is ready. He knows that the public health in his community is part of his responsibility. He accepts his role as public health educator and sees to it he has on hand not only the medical needs of the community but materials that tell how to improve health. The Chest X-ray schedule, the danger signals of cancer, the symptoms of diabetes and a thousand other pieces of information are available from the community pharmacist.

His is a service that knows no time or period of the week or year. He is there when he is needed and he works for the protection of the public. He is on call for whatever help or information may be needed. He cannot and will not take the place of the physician but as a member of the health profession your community pharmacist is aware of and up-to-date on all the health problems of everyday living.

Governor David L. Lawrence has proclaimed the week of October 1-7 as Pharmacy Week in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. During this week we say, "Thank you, Mr. Pharmacist for a job well done."

Socialized Medicine Exposed

The July 1961 issue of "Nations Business" carried an article "I Quit Socialized Medicine" by Dr. E. Lloyd Dawe. A refugee from England's National Health Service, he is now in full-time private psychiatric practice in Danbury, Conn.

As an intern in a London hospital and later in general practice in that city, Dr. Dawe saw the waste, interference and bureaucratic regimentation that accompanies Britain's unwieldy social experiment.

Says Dr. Dawe: "Politicians who favor enactment of new federal medical care in the U. S. A. today are making the same wishful promises . . . that were heard in England 13 years ago." And he advises that "Americans should heed the lesson taught in England, and guard well the high medical standards and freedoms they now possess."

Dr. Dawe points out what should definitely be a warning to Americans: Britain's National Health Service is now costing the British taxpayers more than five times the original estimate.

Dr. Dawe says he came to the U. S. A. to practice medicine without regimentation, restrictions and interference. "I want only two people in the medical relationship—myself and my patient. There should be no impersonal governmental third party . . . The best medical care can be given only . . . where a doctor is not a government clerk, but an individual with professional dignity and freedom."

You can obtain a reprint of Dr. Dawe's "I Quit Socialized Medicine" by sending 10 cents to Nations Business, 1615 H. St., N. W., Washington 6, D. C. Most heartily we recommend that you do so.

Men In Government

One of the tasks of government is to recruit able, competent, trained men for governmental purposes. During a war period, it is essential to bring into government the most able men in the country. Yet, we place upon such men restrictions which make it difficult for them to accept government positions. Some tasks in our very complicated operations require men of enormous experience and technical training. Such men are generally found in private industry and in the universities.

Secretary of Defense McNamara is such a man. He is now embroiled in a Congressional investigation due to the General Walker Case. There can be no question but that Secretary McNamara stumbled in this matter. The question has been raised as to whether a business training is suitable in government negotiations. The question might also be asked whether the generals and admirals that are taken out of service into private enterprise adjust with sufficient speed from the military service to the flexibility essential in the market-place.

Secretary of Defense McNamara was asked by Dave Garaway:

"Mr. Secretary, how would you define the managerial philosophy which you bring to the job?"

To this the head of the Pentagon replied:

"That's a question I've been asking myself for years—what exactly is the role of the manager in any large organization, private or public. And I think that the role of public manager is very similar to the role of a private manager; in each case he has the option of following one of two major alternative courses of action. How can either act as a judge or a leader. In the former case, he sets and waits until subordinates bring to him problems for solution, or alternatives for choice. In the latter case, he immerses himself in the operation of the business or the governmental activity, examines the problems, the objectives, the alternative courses of action; choose among them, and leads the organization to their accomplishment. In the one case it's a passive role; in the other case, an active role."

The answer is not good enough. In business, the limitation upon a chief executive is principally his Directors who in most instances are friendly to the Executive whom they most likely chose or who were chosen by him. Some of them may be dependent upon the Executive for their jobs, they serving in the dual capacity of members of a Board of Directors and subordinate executives.

In a public position, the managerial person is dependent upon the good-will of Congress, both Houses and the Committees of each that are concerned with his affairs; public opinion as expressed in the press; the support of irremovable subordinates, some of whom are likely to have a superior standing with the public. When, for instance, the Secretary of Defense censors statements made by senior military officers, some of whom may have had experience far beyond anything that the Secretary has, the question not only of judgement but of good taste arises.

Secretary McNamara justified the censorship of an address by Admiral Burke as follows:

Martin Agronsky of N. B. C. asks: "Among the first policy decisions you made . . . Admiral Burke, the Chief of Naval Operations, was asked by you to discard a speech that he made on foreign policy that was very critical of the Russians. Now what's the thinking behind that restraint on the admiral's public statement?"

"McNamara: Well, it's in line, with a very simple and strongly held belief of mine that it's inappropriate for any member of the Defense Department to speak on the subject of foreign policy . . ."

That does not by any means reflect the tradition of this country. Secretary McNamara not only censors these outstanding men but he deprives the American people of knowledge of their expert opinions. It forces us, as a people, to be dependent entirely upon the staff of the State Department, a staff of technicians in whom the people have never had much confidence.

By taking this position, Secretary McNamara gives the impression that this Administration fears the effect upon public opinion of direct comment by experienced men in whom the public has more confidence than it does in the temporary personalities in the State Department whose doctrinaire views have, on occasion, led to disaster.

Secretary McNamara has had very little experience in government and in the General Walker Case he unquestionably went beyond sound political judgement.

Reports From Congress

'Extra Member' Of Congress Does Everything But Vote

By Congressional Quarterly Washington, Sept. — (CQ) — Dr. Antonio Fernos-Isern, Puerto Rico's Resident Commissioner in Washington, has an office in the New House Office Building on Capitol Hill acts as Senator and Representative of his "District," but he doesn't have a vote.

As Dr. Fernos himself put in an interview: "Although in fact most of my time is taken by Congressional duties, by law I am not a Member of Congress. The law provides for the election of a Resident Commissioner who is supposed to be recognized as the spokesman for Puerto Rico by all branches. I am what you might call the 'extra member of Congress.'"

Puerto Rico's status as a Commonwealth has been in effect since 1952. The island's inhabitants are citizens of the U. S. and elect their own officials, but do not participate in the mainland's national elections. But there is no taxation without representation: Puerto Ricans pay local taxes, but, with minor exceptions, they do not pay U. S. income taxes.

Jobs Listed

Dr. Fernos, 66, who has been Resident Commissioner since 1946, receives the same salary as regular Members of the House of Representatives — $22,500—and has many of the same jobs to perform.

One is "casework"—helping constituents with individual problems. Dr. Fernos lists his casework as involving pensions, military transfers, social security mix-ups, marriages before administrative agencies, letters from relatives of Puerto Ricans who live in the U. S. and get in trouble here, and arranging for waivers on visa requirements for Cuban refugees to Puerto Rico.

He serves on three House Committees—all of which have jurisdiction over Puerto Rican interests: Agriculture (sugar quotas), Armed Services (military installations) and Interior and Insular Affairs (with the Commonwealth established, his work on this Committee is fairly completed).

He must watch all bills involving any federal-state relationships to see that Puerto Rico gets its just share, and may testify before any Congressional committee.

Asked how he wins his way without the Congressman's traditional weapon—his vote—Dr. Fernos replied, "I never vote against anyone."

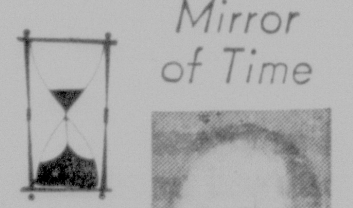

Dr. Fernos also has his job to do before the federal agencies "down town." His most frequent contacts are the Agriculture Department (sugar), State Department (Cubans), Treasury (tax problems), Federal Aviation Agency (air travel to Puerto Rico), Pentagon (military installations and transfers) and the Social Security Administration (individual problems).

This is a lot of work for one man. As Dr. Fernos put it, "If Puerto Rico were a state, I'd be five Members of the House and two Senators."

Opposes Statehood —But like his Popular Democratic Party's leader, Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, Dr. Fernos prefers the commonwealth status to statehood or independence. He argues that it is of mutual benefit to the U. S. and Puerto Rico, that the U. S. aid to Puerto Rico has enabled the island to be a good U. S. market and a "showcase" to the rest of Latin America.

Asked what he considers the most memorable occasion in the House during his 15 years of association with it, Dr. Fernos recalled the 1954 incident when three Puerto Ricans of the Nationalist Party fired shots from a visitors gallery onto the floor of the House, hitting five Members.

Dr. Fernos asked to be recognized as the first speaker the next day. Although the shooters were the "lunatic fringe," he says, "they did it in the name of Puerto Rican independence . . . I didn't know how the House would react. You can imagine how I felt . . . While I was just walking from my seat to the rostrum, the House rose to its feet and gave me the greatest ovation I ever heard in my life. I spoke to the House for ten minutes. Then I received another ovation. I'll never forget it."

Dissertation On Roads

One of your recent editorials suggesting that the voters pay more attention to what is going on with the candidates who are now in office was very amusing. I would like to inform you that the Township Supervisors of Chestnut Hill Township, took it upon themselves to raise the road millage from three to six mills without ever notifying any of the taxpayers or having advertised in your paper whatsoever. It is the writer's opinion and all those whom I have contacted in the township that no advertising of this proposed raise or doubling the millage was ever made before it was accomplished.

How can we as voters and taxpayers show any interest in what our officeholders are doing when they do not go through the legal course of at least informing us of what they intend doing. It might be also interesting to note that the millage was doubled only in Chestnut Hill Township. In no other Township in Monroe County was the millage raised this much for this period of time by doubling it. This of course must also be considered in the light of the already over-burdened load which the taxpayers, particularly in Chestnut Hill Township must bear at the present time.

Our board of County Commissioners is to be commended in its recent action in refusing a grant of county aid to Chestnut Hill Township to the amount of $6,993.00. The Commissioners did not refuse to give Chestnut Hill Township this money because they were selfish but because of the selfish interest of two of the township road supervisors and their selfish desires. This county aid was for black-top paving of Chestnut Hill Township roads which would amount to $29,655.45. The largest amount was $21,420.00 for township road No. 439 which would commence on legislative route 45049 to township road No. 490 and cover 1.8 miles. There is no squabble with the building of this road either with the County Board of Commissioners or with this writer or with most of the people in the Township. This is a road which is traveled not only by the school bus but also is a mail route.

The following two pieces of road are what caused the refusal by the commissioners: Township road No. 460 which would cost $3,552.00 to construct which would go from township road No. 453 to Township road No. 439 and was 3 miles long. This piece of road merely connected the proposed township road No. 439 to an already existing blacktop paving which was directly in front of Township road No. 439.

West End of Monroe County and has made a tour of these roads and we have also been waiting for some action on his part regarding this situation. It is the writer's understanding that the township supervisors are beholden to no local authority whatsoever. If this is so, they must also remember that they have been elected by the people and they also owe some degree of obligation and service to the people as well.

I have a proposal to make which I think might remedy this situation. The first is that we try to turn over as many roads in the township to the state for care and also for paving. I do not think that this should be done promiscuously but should be emphasized that only the main arteries and heavily traveled roads should be turned over to the state. Secondly, on the other less frequented roads a definite program lasting for at least a five or six year period should be set up concerning eventual paving of these roads. In the meantime, an effort should be made to at least oil the dirt roads in front of the residents who get a constant dusting as a result of cars going back and forth.

Third, someone should be associated with the supervisors who will be on the look-out for all the various extra bonuses and funds which are made available by the state to the local Township Supervisors so that they might avail themselves of these funds for the benefit of the public. Fourth, a very strong effort should be made to acquaint the voters with the importance of selecting men who are primarily interested in the good and welfare of the community. I would suggest men of the caliber who would not be interested in the work personally themselves but who would act in a supervisory capacity and would hire all the necessary professional help and equipment in order to maintain the township roads in a suitable condition. In the future, the voters should be very much aware of who is running for the office of township supervisors and the tremendous power which the supervisors have and also the potential which the supervisors can for the benefit of their community. The latter part of this statement applies only when and if these men are sincerely interested in helping their community and getting a job well done.

Inside You And Yours

Live With Nephritis

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.
Poor Annie! Can anything help her nephritis?

Yes! Her nephritis had crept in silently and smoldered for years. Many kidney troubles do. Eventually, scars and tired tubules slow down kidney function. After pounding the kidneys year after year, high blood pressure can hammer out the same kidney trouble. In either case, some extra protein (albumin) and a few red blood cells trickle through the damaged kidneys, while blood pressure scores new highs.

The heart has to beat stronger to pump against this increased pressure. Its muscle grows and every fiber stretches to squeeze out all the blood the body needs. If it fails to keep up, blood seeps through tiny capillaries to cause swelling.

Strokes Possible
The pounding pulse may push extra fluid into the skull and make your head throb. This extra pressure occasionally leads to serious complications, including strokes.

Help control these complications before they begin. Rest twice a day and nine hours at night, if possible.

Your doctor may prescribe a sedative if headache and irritability keep you from sleeping.

Annie's able to enjoy life today. Tomorrow, doctors may be able to exchange new kidneys for old!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Memos of Friday

Memos of a Girl Friday

Dear WW: Dag Hammarskjöld's life was threatened two days before he flew to the Congo and on his crash. That's the "inside" on why he instructed his pilot (at the last moment) to switch to another landing field. The UN crowd used that line to sound interesting along the cocktail-circuit . . . Marilyn Monroe's chums say she's the heroine of "Please Don't Kill Anything" by ex-husband Arthur Miller in Redbook . . . Several readers (who couldn't savvy JFK's "socialistic tendencies") write that Rose Kennedy, the President's mother, explained it in McCull's for May. That young Jack was sent to London's School of Economics to study under Prof. Harold Laski, an admitted Socialist, even though the Kennedy family did not like the Prof or his ideas.

G-Man John E. Hoover says the response for his pamphlet, "The Communist Party Line," has been great. Anyone can get free copies of it by writing to him at the F. B. I., Washington, D. C. . . . Here's a switch: An all-Negro musicians' union in Cincy refused to merge with a white local there. It will now stand charges of racial discrimination . . . Lisa Kirk phoned. Opens her new act at the Waldorf Oct. 16th . . . Quite a scene in one of the Summit Hotel elevators the other a.m. A tipsy man without a stitch on wore a brief cast instead of a fig leaf.

Ava Gardner's antics so enchanted two cops (in a parked crowd) they didn't chase the idiots driving the car she was in which passed two red lights . . . New fad among the Joe College crowd, Form select groups among fraternities and call themselves "The First Pack" and carry on like Youknowwho . . . Talented actress Zouha Lampert (wasted in a couple of H'wood mishmashes) returns to the footlights in "Look! We're Comin' Through" . . . The Lani's monied British host and his socialite spouse are experimenting apart . . . Lyon Phelps, lyricist for the new play "Do You Know The Milky Way?" (opens Oct. 16th) until recently was Boy Friday for Elinor Hughes, a Boston drama critic.

"Ratfink" is the title of an upcoming Cheryl Crawford musical. It's about a Chaplinesque hero trying to get along in a very cool world . . . Richard Rodgers caught the "Steppin' in Society" revue at the Cottiell Room. May sign Patricia Marand to inherit Mary Martin's role in "Music" . . . There is more work in NYC for show-folks than at any time since TV was born. Tv and film making here is at its all-time high . . . With all the groaning and moaning in the magazine biz more than 30 new ones will challenge the news-stands . . . On the Late Show a CBS announcer said: "Some of our future pictures will be seen in the future."

Troop 300 Presented Emblems

MEMBERS of Boy Scout Troop 300 who attended the Pocono District Camporee were presented special emblems by Scoutmaster Herb Ayers at a regular meeting of the troop Thursday night.

The following scouts participated in the camporee from the troop: from Flaming Arrow Patrol, Steve Kanouse, David Katz, Joel Keller and Terry Flory. From Crow Patrol, Jack Lesone and from Rattle Snake Patrol, Charles Strunk, Gary Marvin and Durwood Bush.

The 1961 Wilderness Camporee was held at Egypt Meadows in the Bruce Lake Wilderness Area a short distance from Promise Land.

Under the leadership of Scoutmaster Ayers and assistant Walter Marvin, the boys departed early last Friday afternoon. The camporee ended late Saturday night. With assistance from Ralph Hellig, of the State Forest Service, the scouts participated in a five-mile hike to Bruce Lake where they learned to identify trees and plant life not found in this Stroudsburg area. Among others, they learned to identify the Tamarack and Black Spruce trees and the profuse growth of the wild cranberry plants.

Hotel Employees Negotiating

PITTSBURGH (AP)—New contract negotiations continued Friday for 1,837 employees of five Pittsburgh hotels with the present contract due to expire at midnight Saturday.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said there were unofficial reports that the current contract has been extended to permit negotiations to continue next week.

The talks involve the Pittsburgh Hotels Association and two unions: Local 237, Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance; and Local 188, Bartenders Union.

The unions have not made public their new contract demands.

Boost Shipping

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union plans to reinforce its merchant fleet next year with ships powered by gas turbines, the official Soviet news agency Tass announced.

Community Concert Series To Feature Four Programs

HEIDI KRALL, the Metropolitan Opera's gleaming young soprano; Gold and Fildale, impeccable duo-pianists; Myra Kinch and Company, who will present a new dance revue and Albert Tipton's prize-winning ensemble will feature the Pocono Community Concert series for the 1961-62 season.

The new season will begin

Excellent To Good Fishing

FISHING conditions ranging from good to excellent were reported for the northeast region, including Monroe County, by Fish Warden Supervisor H. Clair Fleeger in an announcement yesterday.

Fleeger reported streams low and clear with cool weather and cooling waters.

For specific areas, he said Lower Woods Pond is good to fine for walleyes and walleye and bass are on surge at Belmont Lake. Rainbows were reported active in Upper Woods Pond and Prompton Dam.

Muskie were reported willing at Gouldsboro Lake with pan-fishing excellent in the Delaware River and bass and walleye rapidly improving.

Lackawanna County lakes were reported producing on Christmas tree lures and good fishing for panfish was reported at Lake Sherida. Bass were reported striking at Promised Land Lake and Peeks Pond.

Lake Harmony bass were recommended and walleye were reported hitting live bait in the Susquehanna River and in Bradford, Wyoming and Susquehanna Counties.

Knights To Hold Dance Tonight

FATHER Butler Knights of Columbus will hold a dinner-dance Saturday in the Elks Home, East Stroudsburg.

The dinner will be served at 7 p.m. and dancing will follow. It was announced last night that prizes will be awarded to the women present at the dance.

Eastburg Man Found Guilty

A MONROE County Court jury yesterday found David Singer, 927 Ehler St., East Stroudsburg, innocent on an assault and battery charge brought by his 17-year-old sister, Rose.

The jury directed that the costs of the case be divided equally between the defendant and a complainant.

Dist. Atty. James R. Marsh represented the Commonwealth, while James C. Scanlon was the attorney for Singer.

In the last jury trial scheduled for the current term of Criminal Court, a jury convicted Horace LaBadie, formerly of N. 10th St., Stroudsburg, on a charge of obstructing an officer in the execution of process. Judge Fred W. Davis deferred sentencing.

LaBadie was represented by Thomas Nebors, Jr., court-appointed counsel, while Marsh represented the Commonwealth.

Waring Concert October 22

TICKETS for the Tom L. Waring Scholarship Fund Concert to be presented by Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians on Sunday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Gymnasium of East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School will go on sale today.

They will be available at Lloyd's Sporting Goods, Kresge Drug Store, Counterman's Drug Store and City Cut Rate in East Stroudsburg, and at Biggs' Restaurant, Bud's Men's Shop, Rea and Derick Drug Store, Flagler's Drug Store and the shoe department of A. B. Wyck-off Dept. Store in Stroudsburg. Other places where they may be purchased will be announced.

The program, sponsored by the Varsity E Club, will honor the late brother of Fred, who was interested in high school sports and who had established scholarships at both East Stroudsburg and Stroud Union High Schools prior to his death last year.

Waring has announced that the program will be the same which he will present on tour this year. Its theme is "Let Freedom Sing" or the Sounds of America.

Conductor-flutist Albert Tipton leads his group of 14 during the May 10 program on the college campus. His wife, Mary, a pianist of formidable ability, will also appear in the performance.

Heidi Krall will make her Pocono Community Concert appearance March 12. A frequent guest on national television, Miss Krall won raves for her performance in "Music For a Summer Night."

Reckless Driving Charge Faces Road-Leaving Driver

CHIEF of Police H. W. Tehbs, Stroud Township, said last night that he would file a charge of reckless driving against Fred Christman, Anasimink.

Christman was driving a 1960 convertible owned by Mrs. Pauline Singer, P. O. Box 83, East Stroudsburg, when the car ran off the road near Arlington Lake Diner on N. Ninth Street Thursday at 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Singer, who ran from the scene of the accident, was found later and taken to the Monroe County General Hospital where she was admitted for treatment of shock and loss of memory.

A spokesman at the hospital last night said Mrs. Singer's condition was listed as "fair".

30 Protestant Churches To Unite For Reformation

THIRTY of the Protestant Churches of Monroe County are planning to unite for Reformation—Sunday, Oct. 29. The worship service will be conducted in the Methodist Church, East Stroudsburg at 8:00 p.m.

Each of the church choirs have been invited to participate in the 200-voice choir. They plan to sing Shaw's masterpiece, "With a Voice of Singing", York's "Once to Every Man and Nation", and Lullin's "Seven Fold Amen".

The youth of the congregations are going to participate for the first time. The president of each youth organization of the several churches, will be delegated to assist the ministers in one of the most serious duties of the celebration.

Every cooperating minister will sit with the officers of the County Ministerium. They will be located to the rear of the pulpit and clerically garbed for the occasion.

Dr. James J. Heller, dean of Moravian College, Bethlehem, will be the Reformation speaker.

Beside his duties at the college, Dr. Heller is a well known lecturer. He also has written a book entitled "A Faith For Life." His work was published this year.

The Rev. Joseph Carr, pastor of Christ Reformed Church and president of the County Ministerium, has extended an invitation to all citizens to attend the service.

54th Fire School Today

THE 54TH annual Monroe County Fire School will get under way today at 9:45 a. m. and end at 3:30 p. m. The school will also be in session during the same hours Sunday at the Stroud Township Municipal Building.

There are six courses listed for the firemen. They are ladder, hose and rescue; forcible entry, ventilation and masks; problem fires; basic hydraulics; forest fires and first aid.

The school is open to all firemen in the county and enrollment may be made at the fire house in Stroud Township Firehouse. Enrollment fee is $2.

A spokesman for the school said last night that all persons attending will have a chance to fight fires.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Watching somebody else work is always a pleasure—particularly in your own field. The growing number of newsletters which local organizations are using to keep their members informed have been brightening my mail for the past few days.

Newest to join the list is the Junior Woman's Club whose editor simply signs herself "Gabby" which might fit any number of members and probably refers to the least loquacious one of all. Any way it gives all pertinent information, including when it is permissible to smoke or knit and when it isn't.

Linda Pipher is the new editor-in-chief of the AAUW Newsletter and they couldn't have picked a better one. She had an article in August's Parents Magazine and has a couple more coming up for the Home Economics Magazine. The first issue is four long pages long, and scoops the Daily Record on some items.

The Smithfield Presbyterian Women also have a newsy sheet, which comes out periodically, and is full of tidbits of information and the back stage maneuvering at some of their meetings.

Of course the Tobyhanna Reporter is a printed newspaper with news of all the departments and is edited by Irv Goldberg, who I notice by his "Toby or Not" has the same problem with statistics that I do, except he manages to figure out what went wrong.

Next, I hope, come the school newspapers where maybe we can catch up on some of the news of the younger set. This year with four high schools they should be bigger and better than ever.

Anyway, it's the kind of competition I enjoy — and I hope they keep coming.

BPW Emblem Breakfast On Sunday

An Emblem Breakfast will be held on Sunday morning at 9 a.m. by the Business and Professional Woman's Club in beginning their new club season. Following the breakfast and emblem ceremony, members will attend church.

Monroe Girl Scout Council Dissolves Into New Scranton Pocono Council

The Monroe County Girl Scout Council voted itself out of existence at their final meeting on Thursday night at the First Presbyterian Church in Stroudsburg.

They did so in order to become a member of the larger council, plans for which have been developed over the period of more than a year. The new council, to be known as the Scranton Pocono Council, has enrolled 6,000 Girl Scouts and 2,000 adult Girl Scouts serving as leaders, assistants and group consultants.

Miss Acacia Crowell, a member of the national Field Staff of the Girl Scouts, USA and advisor to the new Council, gave in detail the history of its development to provide more professional help for volunteer leaders and more opportunities for the Girl Scouts. She also outlined its working procedure through delegates, one selected from each of the neighborhoods involved.

Jr. Woman's Club Opens Year With Supper Tuesday

The Junior Woman's Club will open their new club year with a covered dish supper on Tuesday night at 6:30 in the cafeteria of Stroud Union High School.

The change in meeting place was necessary because the kitchen in the Mansion House is being renovated as the club's major summer project and will not be ready for use in time.

Prospective members may be invited as guests without any guest fees. Members are asked to bring casseroles and table service for themselves and their guests.

During the business meeting, the representative of a pancake company will explain how benefit pancake suppers work, a project the club is considering for later in the year.

The program will feature songs by Robert Kranendonk, baritone, and Jean Ann Wolbert, pianist.

Hospitality committee for the October meeting will be Mrs. Harold Bentzoni, Miss Jean Stevens, Mrs. Robert Held, Mrs. John Pentz, Mrs. C. Roy Hughes, Mrs. John Kupiec, Mrs. Charles Poalillo and Mrs. O'Dell Smith.

Dames Of Malta Monday

St. John's Sisterhood Dames of Malta will meet on Monday night at 7:30 in the Malta Temple. A birthday social honoring members with birthdays in July, August and September will be held after the meeting for which each member is asked to bring a gift.

Preparations will also be discussed for the Special Session of Senodacia and School of Instruction planned by the Mountain Laurel Protectors Assembly to be held in the Malta Temple, Stroudsburg on Saturday, Oct. 21.

At that time the Sovereign Protector and many other sovereign officers will be present. The degree work will be exemplified by the local degree team. Degree teams from Wilkes-Barre, Allentown, Lehigh, Camden, N.J., will exemplify other work.

A luncheon and a banquet will be held in conjunction with the affair at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Triple Party At Wildoners

Saylorsburg — A triple surprise birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wildoner, honoring Mrs. Ford Warner whose birthday was Sept. 23; Bernice Post and Herbert Wildoner whose birthdays were Sept. 25.

Mrs. Wildoner and Mrs. George Halstead were hostesses. Guests were Mrs. Sophie Post, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Post and daughter, Linda, Henryville; Mrs. Lillian Peechatka, Scotrun; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bisbing and daughters, Donna and Debra, Mrs. Mary Warner, Mrs. Edith Decker, George Packer, Ford Warner and George Halstead.

Cub Pack Plans Pinewood Derby For October

A pinewood derby with each boy making his own racer, was announced at the meeting of Cub Pack 86 at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church this week.

Robert Altomose presided in the absence of Cubmaster Harry Congdon making the following awards:

Wolf Badge, James Gerek; Lion badge, LeRoy Hagerty, James Detrick, Charles Decker, Randy Gotti; gold arrows, LeRoy Hagerty, James Gerek, Lawrence King; silver arrows, James Gerek, LeRoy Hagerty, Arthur Anderson and Tony Hudak.

Boys taken into the Webloe Den include Charles Decker, LeRoy Decker and David Miller. Transferred from other packs are Robert Stem and Eddie Stevens.

Den 5 conducted the opening and closing ceremonies. Cubby was presented to Den 3 with the most parents present. The pack planned a candy sale. Ernest Horn and Edward Hudak were named to the refreshment committee.

It was announced that Robert Anderson will assume his duties as new cubmaster at the October pack meeting. Harry Congdon will assist Robert Altomose with the Webloe Den.

Penny Supper At Saylorsburg On October 14

Saylorsburg — A penny supper will be held at the firehouse in Saylorsburg on Oct. 14, it was decided at the meeting of the Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Co. Aux. this week. Serving will be from 4 to 8 p.m.

Violet Meixsell, financial secretary, reported a membership of 275.

The group voted to donate $12 to the Community Chest Drive. Refreshments were served by Vera Correll, Ellen Fritz, Eva Correll and Florence Marsh. Anna M. Serfass, chaplain, led devotions. Elva Knowles presided.

Hostesses for October will be Eva Schaffer, Muriel Hildebrandt, Anna Snyder and Gladys McCabe.

Mrs. Surrey To Speak At St. Mary's Guild

Mrs. Henry Surrey will show her travel pictures to the many off-the-beaten track places at the meeting of the St. Mary's Guild of Christ Episcopal Church on Tuesday afternoon at 2 at the parish house.

Because of the unusual interest in the program, the guild has invited all women of the church to join them for the meeting.

Here From Iowa

Mr. and Mrs. George Hansen, of Davenport, Iowa, made their first visit to Monroe County in 34 years. Mrs. Hansen is the former Clara Flotter. They spent three weeks in this area staying with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Newhart, of 15 Elm St., East Stroudsburg, and other cousins.

Camp, South House

Meanwhile the council wound up its fiscal affairs.

1) It authorized improvements for Camp Lloyd Treible which will continue in use for both day camps and troop camping for the Scouts of the area.

2) It authorized necessary repairs for the Girl Scout House on Sarah St. in Stroudsburg which will continue to be used as an office, staffed by volunteers.

3) It turned over other moneys in its treasury to the new council to be used specifically to provide professional help in District 5.

The Scranton Pocono Council will officially come into existence on November 8 when the first board meeting will be held in Scranton.

Master Diver To Show Film Of Deep Sea Expedition At Opening Dutch Treat Here

Not outer space but the wonders of inner space will be brought to the Dutch Treat Club at their opening dinner meeting on Thursday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

"Exploring Inner Space: From Aqua-lung to Diving Saucer," is the official film of Capt. Jacques-Yves Cousteau's Calypso Oceanographic Expedition. It will be shown by his master diver, Owen Lee, only American member of the expedition who has been delegated by Capt. Cousteau to bring the films to America.

Cousteau, author of the best-selling "The Silent World" is co-developer of the aqua-lung. His film of "The Silent World" won the Grand Prix of the Cannes International Film Festival, took a Hollywood Oscar and even won a gold medal in Russia.

Recently he has conducted the largest underwater archaeological project on record, the excavation of the Third Century B. C. Greek Wine freighter from the Mediterranean.

Owen Lee is himself an expert with underwater cameras. A young man, he was born in Florida but grew up on the Mississippi River. Before his college days were over, he had been a salmon fisherman in Alaska, a life-guard ditch digger, lumber hand and sailor.

During World War II, he served as coxswain of Gen. Eichelberger's 8th Army staff yacht in Japanese waters. His diving exploits in Vigo Bay Expedition were featured in the book.

Lee studied journalism at the University of Missouri and studied at the University of London and the Sorbonne.

The film will show for the first time in America the depth submarine Capt. Cousteau's jet-propelled diving saucer which takes two men down to a thousand foot depth, designed for exploration of the Continental Shelf. Other new devices to be shown are submarine scooters and deepsea camera sled.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of Dutch Treat Club may call Mrs. Eric Schuchard for further information or to make reservations for the dinner.

New Troop Of Girl Scouts Will Organize

The first meeting of a new Girl Scout Troop being organized at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will be held on Monday night at 6 p.m. in the basement at the home of the leader, Mrs. William Shields, 116 Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Since this is the organizing meeting, the parents are asked to attend with the scouts. Any-one needing transportation may call HA 1-1759. Refreshments will be served.

The Wyckoff Shopper

the friendly store
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

There is no doubt about it, Lt. Col. Albert Schoepper, director of the United States Marine Band, is one of the most charming men I have ever met . . . a magician whose wand is a baton, and who produces glorious tones from golden instruments rather than rabbits from hats.

I first met the Colonel several years ago on a previous visit to the Stroudsburgs—in fact, I had visited his dressing room, requested a radio interview, and come away with a pleasantly autographed photograph. He had been most gracious in chatting with me during intermission, but I hadn't a tape recorder with me at the time, and he was leaving town the next day prior to my broadcast.

It is, I think, most amazing that after such a brief encounter, he should have remembered me at all. But he did. When I walked into his dressing room immediately after his arrival in the Stroudsburgs this week, he greeted me cordially by name, and thanked me for having written "a fine article about me, which I greatly appreciated." This being true, I was not at all surprised (as were many persons) when, a half hour later, the same gentleman—now in heavily gold-braid-encrusted uniform—mounted the podium to conduct a brilliant concert without once referring to a score. His memory is as phenomenal and faultless as his manners, and his poise is as great as his musical knowledge.

Watching Colonel Schoepper is almost as great a delight as hearing the music his hands coax and command from the fifty instruments grouped about him. There are no histrionics in his conducting . . . one hand, with the baton, is constantly but effortlessly on the move. Only occasionally is the other hand lifted from his side in an almost casual way. Yet it is very easy to believe that when a program is ended his greatest pleasure, as he will tell you, is in stepping out of uniform and into a shower. I would imagine every man in his band might feel exactly the same way, for such music as they play may flow in seemingly easy tempo into, around, and inside of an audience, but it is born, if not of "blood, sweat and tears," at least of great physical proficiency and mental concentration, mixed with a desire to please, spiced by superb showmanship.

William Jones, commentator for the Marine Band concerts—a young man with one of the most magnificent speaking and singing voices I have ever heard—paid high tribute to local audiences during the evening concert. Never, he said, has the President's band played to a more enthusiastic, quietly appreciative audience than that of school children on Wednesday afternoon. Their decorum was perfect, he pointed out. It truly was. I was there, and I know. During every selection, there was complete, enraptured silence. It was only at the end of each number that the students stirred . . . and then only to applaud until arms ached and the band members broke into smiles of pleasure realizing how warmly their efforts were received.

After hearing Colonel Schoepper's boys, it is easy to see why they form the President's own band. They are technically flawless . . . whom else could they serve with the full honor they deserve except the President of the United States? Colonel Schoepper tells me that since our last meeting, the group has had two tours—one to Squaw Valley to play for the Olympics. He missed meeting Chairman Khrushchev during his visit to Washington, being on tour at the time, but the band members remaining at home did play for him and found the experience most interesting.

Among other things, he revealed that "Tammy" had been one of Mrs. Eisenhower's favorite selections during her years as First Lady and the band played it frequently for her. I think on a future visit it might be interesting if the band were to play a medley of the numbers best loved by Presidents and First Ladies . . . don't you?

You'll observe I mention "future visit" as an established fact . . . for surely they will return. None of us could ever get enough of such music . . . the Exchange Club surely knows this. So must Colonel Schoepper and his musicians. So, I am sure, does the President himself.

Limitation On Women Enlistees

THE RESPONSE to Army service as a career field for young women has necessitated a limitation on the number of applicants who may be accepted. Lt. Colonel Helen H. Cortay announced this week. Col. Cortay, of the Military Procurement Division, Adjutant General's Office, is Chief of Recruiting for the Women's Army Corps. Col. Cortay cites the widespread knowledge of technical training opportunities open to high school graduates who qualify for service in the Women's Army Corps as a major factor in filling the Training Center to capacity. Sergeant Donald K. Smith, Stroudsburg Army Recruiter, stated only six applicants may enlist from the Wilkes-Barre Recruiting Station area during October. However, those who successfully meet the mental and physical requirements and whose character references are superior may be placed on a deferred list for enlistment at a future date.

Teachers To Attend Conference

MRS. Eugene Martin and Miss Leni Eisemann of the language department of East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School will attend the Fall conference of the Pennsylvania Modern Language Assn. today at Wilkes-Barre. Speakers at the afternoon session will be David Sherman of King's College and Randall Marshall, president of the New Jersey Modern Language Teachers Assn.

Craigs Meadow Church Service

RALLY DAY exercises will be held at the Craigs Meadow Lutheran Church on Sunday morning at 9:45. It will feature the presentation of the Cradle Roll babies, the moving up of classes and a play, "Bessie's Mistake," given by Mrs. Stanley Smith's class of girls, assisted by her husband's class of boys. Graduation exercises will be given by and for the Christian Soldiers supervised by Mrs. Robert Heeter.

Building Activity Declines

HARRISBURG—Building activity in Pennsylvania generally declines seasonally in August and this year was no exception, according to figures made public yesterday by Secretary of Labor and Industry A. Allen Sulowice. The seasonal decline this year was more severe than in the previous two years. The gross value of building activity authorized by 712 permit-issuing communities of the state was $65,395,894 or 22.7 per cent lower than the $84,595,200 authorized by 708 communities in July of this year. The seasonal declines were 17.4 per cent last year and 18.3 per cent in 1959. There was, however, one bright spot in the building picture. In addition to compiling gross figures, the department of labor and industry also keeps month-to-month and year-to-year scores on authorized building activity in 545 identical Pennsylvania communities. On this more comparable basis, August activity was 1.7 per cent higher than August of last year, although still 10.1 per cent lower than August of 1959 and 18.9 per cent lower than August 1958. Building activities for the first eight months of this year in these identical communities was reported as having a value of $507,079,000, down 3.4 per cent from the same period last year and down 11.1 per cent from the same period in 1959. The seasonal decline was reflected in both residential and nonresidential building. New dwelling construction valued at $32,637,747 in August was down 31.4 per cent from previous month, and Dr. Anthony J. Bryski, director of the department's bureau of research and statistics, said, "Virtually all of the decline resulted from reduced activity in large apartment authorizations and drying up of public-owned dwelling construction approvals."

Two Students Sentenced In E. Germany

BERLIN (AP)—An East German court has sentenced two California students two years in prison on charges of trying to smuggle an East Berlin student into West Berlin in a car's luggage compartment. Victor Searles Pankey and Gilbert Page Ferry, both 20, from Tustin, Calif., and four others were convicted of having violated the Communist laws against "flight from the republic" as well as passport regulations, the official East German news agency ADN announced. The Communist prosecutor said all six tried to woo people over to the West and aided East Germans in illegal attempts to leave their homeland, ADN reported. Convicted with the Americans on the same charges but for different alleged offenses were Bernhard Joseph Collett, 30, of England; Henri Johannes Petrus Pierrot, 56, of the Netherlands; and two citizens of the United Arab Republic identified as El Meshneb, 29, and Rcha Azer Salib, 21, both students. Collett drew 2 years, Pierrot 3½ years, El Meshneb 3 years and Salib 18 months in prison.

Fugitive Arrested

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A fugitive killer from Georgia was arrested Friday as he tried to rob a pedestrian. Although he gave the name of James Carter, and his age 29, fingerprints identified him as William Fuller, who escaped from an Atlanta prison where he was serving a life sentence.

A Look At 1962 Cars

THE 1962 FORD GALAXIE line features a crisp, fresh approach to Ford's classic styling. Shown here is the Galaxie 500 Sunliner convertible, one of twelve models in the Galaxie line. While the new Galaxie is slightly shorter and fractionally narrower than the 1961 model, the large passenger compartment is the same as 1961. Large door openings, coupled with Ford's convenient two-position door stops, make entering and leaving the Galaxie an easy and natural movement. The Sunliner top is anchored at each roof bow to prevent "ballooning" when underway. The vinyl-lined top is stowed under a color-keyed boot. Local Ford Galaxie dealers are Haynes Motors, N. 9th and Scott Sts., Stroudsburg, and Raymond Price, Mountainhome.

ONE OF THE NINE MODELS of Chevrolet's newest passenger car line, the Chevy II series, is this 4-door sedan which proudly reflects straight flowing lines with simply sculptured details. Recessed single unit headlamps, a choice of four- or six-cylinder engines, and manual or automatic transmission, are but a few of the many features found in this new line of Chevrolet-built automobiles. The Chevy II's, along with the complete array of 1962 Chevrolet cars, made their public bow yesterday. Your local Chevrolet dealers are: A. E. Krome, Gilbert; McCambridge's Canadensis; Gray Chevrolet, Tannersville, and Tucker Co., Stroudsburg.

What in the world (of newspaper reading) interests a woman most?

FOOD? ADVERTISING? FASHION?

Now to Tantalize!

ANSWER: WOMEN ARE WILD ABOUT ADVERTISING! An analysis of readership by type of content shows that among women, advertising is in first place. Among men readers advertising ranks third, just ahead of the sports news. This readership by both sexes is entirely voluntary, making for a very receptive atmosphere for advertisers to register solid impact with their sales messages. That's why so many use the daily newspaper.

Congressman Find It's Hard To Get Into News

(THIS IS the last of three articles on a personal experience in the U. S. House of Representatives. The author spent a month in Washington, part of it in the office of Rep. Frank Kowalski (D-Conn.) This article explains some of the methods a Congressman uses to keep his name before the voters.)

BY JAMES OTTAWAY JR.
EVERYONE loves to have his name in the newspaper, but no one needs publicity as badly as a politician, whose professional life depends on it.

A Congressman spends a good deal of his time trying to get press coverage of his statements, votes and activities. But it is not easy.

If you accept the general rule that politicians get in the news in proportion to their power to change our lives, you can begin to understand why a member of the U. S. House of Representatives is not heard from as often as the mayor of your home town.

Almost every word that President Kennedy utters is reported because his thoughts and moods can change our lives. A senator's statement on any important subject will be reported by the wire services. But a single member of the House of Representatives, unless he is the chairman or important member of a committee, has more difficulty getting headlines.

With simple mathematics, it might be said that a representative has one-quarter of the power of a senator who has only 99 colleagues. In the scramble for publicity in Washington, this power equation holds up pretty well.

How, then, does a Congressman make an impression on his constituents? How does he get his name in the newspapers and on the air? How does he let his constituents know that he is doing something in Washington?

Ghost Writers
His most frequent device is a newspapers, radio and TV in Washington and at home. But when you read your Congressman's statement the chances are that he never said it himself.

Every Congressman has a press aide or assistant, very often a former newspaperman, who writes most of his statements and speeches. This is not true of all Congressmen, but it is true of all busy Congressmen.

Ghost writers produce much of the political conversation reported from Washington.

I know of an instance in which a Congressman carried on a long exchange of letters with an undersecretary of state. One day an assistant to the Congressman called the undersecretary's office to clarify a point and discovered that an old college friend was writing letters from the undersecretary that he was answering for the Congressman.

The Congressman and the undersecretary participated in the discussion by suggesting answers, reading the letters and signing them. The assistants did most of the writing.

The same process is followed in the production of statements to the press. The Congressman or his assistant gets an idea, the secretary writes it out, a mimeograph multiplies the copies, and the public once again knows "the innermost thoughts" of its elected representatives.

Publicity Fraud
One of the most amusing publicity gimmicks in Washington is the reporting of federal grants to local governments or federal appointments to state and local positions.

When Democrats are in power federal agencies call the Democratic senators and representatives before they call Republican legislators with the news that the government has awarded money to a particular town for urban redevelopment, for instance.

Generally, the first legislator who calls the wire services with this news will be mentioned in the story back home as the man who made the announcement. Innocent readers will assume that their Congressman has something to do with getting them this federal money.

So a Congressman gets credit and publicity back home for the five-minute effort of his press representative who called the wire services after he received an announcement.

In some cases there is bitter infighting for this easy publicity. A senator's press aide recently asked a wire service to substitute his senator's name for the name of a representative on a government announcement story. The wire service complied, and the representative lost his headline.

Radio, TV Talks
Many Congressmen participate in the more certain publicity device of radio and TV talks for stations in their home state.

Facilities for taping radio and TV talks are in the House and Senate office buildings themselves. A Congressman calls in the morning for a TV appointment. His press aide writes a statement for him and it is reproduced in large letters on a teleprompter.

The Congressman then reads his statement from the teleprompter just below the TV camera in a special studio.

His TV show is ready and in the mail next day at the latest. Statements for radio can be made and reproduced on any number of tapes for radios back home in one day.

The other major contacts a Congressman has with his constituents are his answers to letters, postcards and telegrams he receives and newsletters which many Congressmen mail home once a month.

In all these publicity devices, an assistant is usually the writer. Nevertheless, such statements and letters convey the Congressman's own opinions.

Most Congressmen read all but the most routine letters which go out of their offices, and sign almost all of them personally.

No Congressman is careless about what he says for publication. Although a ghost writer may put the words together, the Congressman is responsible for the general content of a press release or a letter to a constituent.

He cannot afford to make mistakes in public.

Nevertheless, the physical machinery of the race for publicity in Washington often gives a legislator or a newspaperman

E. Stroudsburg Rolls Over Bangor Slaters 45-12

WAITING FOR SIX—Earl Palmer, of East Stroudsburg (30), is all alone in the end zone, as he waits for pass from Harold Myers in first period of East Stroudsburg-Bangor game. It was the second of four touchdown passes Palmer caught. (Staff photo by MacLeod)

It was the pass not the run that pushed the Cavaliers to their second win in three tries. And it was a different team Friday than the one that lost to Pen Argyl last week 25-6. Quarterback Jack Van Horn and end Earl Palmer teamed for three touchdowns and Palmer hauled in another touchdown pass from Harold (Mach 2) Myers. Myers also scored two touchdowns. Dave Harmon had the other Cavalier six-pointer.

Both of Bangor's touchdowns came in the final quarter. J. Parsons put the Slaters on the scoreboard with 5:45 left in the period on a nine yard end sweep and Brian LaBar, a quarterback switched to halfback scored the final Bangor points with only 38 seconds left in the game. LaBar went over on a one yard plunge.

70 Percent

The Cavaliers aerial attack was so effective that it completed seven of 10 tries for 196 yards and most of the completions came with East Stroudsburg receivers wide open.

Until the fourth period, Bangor fumbled away every scoring opportunity and even in the fourth lost a scoring threat when it bobbled the ball on the Cavalier four. The Slaters fumbled seven times, four of them by fullback Ron Bet. The Cavaliers did not lose the ball on a fumble.

East Stroudsburg gained 156 on the ground and did 17 by chewing up yardage in five and six yard chunks. Bangor outgained the Cavaliers on the ground with 183 yards and added 33 more in the air.

Myers led the Cavalier ball carriers with 70 yards in 12 tries. Farris had 50 yards in 11 attempts and narrowly missed a touchdown in the third quarter, when he was knocked out of bounds on the Bangor one after gaining eight yards on a sweep. The first touchdown, despite the 31-yard scoring pass, was the only one the Cavaliers really drove for.

Soft Floater

The dive took 10 plays and ended when Van Horn hurled a soft floater to Palmer, who was 10 yards in back of the Slater secondary. The game was only 7:03 old when Palmer scored and Steele added the conversion on a run.

Bangor had the ball for only one play before East Stroudsburg scored again. Bet fumbled on his 37 yard line and guard Kirk Nelson recovered. Six plays later East Stroudsburg struck again. This time it was an 11 yard pass from Myers to Palmer. The big fullback-halfback took a pitchout from Van Horn and started around right end. The pass surprised the Slaters almost as much as it did the overflow crowd of 5,000.

Myers waited until the Slater secondary made his move toward him, then wobbled a scoring pass to Palmer, who again was by himself.

Bangor mounted its only threat of the first half minutes later but lost a touchdown when 260-pound Budd Stann caught Bet from behind after the Slater fullback had gone 33 yards to the East Stroudsburg 20. Stann stayed with Bet for 20 yards before hauling him down.

Over Ruling Ball

A three yard gainer by Leo Reimer and three straight incomplete passes ended the Slaters' threat, although Reimer was in back of safety-man John Mosher on the final try but dropped the ball. Mosher tried to intercept the pass but overran the ball.

The second period was only 3:48 old when Van Horn found Palmer open again and hit the junior end with his third touchdown. This time it was for 24 yards. Steele ran for the PAT.

With only seconds left in the half, Van Horn, threw his third touchdown pass of the game. It was a screen toss, that Myers hauled 35 yards untouched behind a wall of blockers and with only one second left in the half, East Stroudsburg led 27-0. Bangor more or less won the battle of the hands during the intermission. The Slaters took more than their allotted time and East Stroudsburg was forced to call off its show on the half-way mark. The show was presented after the game.

Bet Fumbles

A Bet fumble on the first play of the second half got the Cavaliers started again. Two running plays set up the Bangor defense before Van Horn and Palmer teamed up again. Frank Holland rushed Van Horn on the play and barely missed halting the play but the junior quarterback stayed on his feet long enough to throw 35 yards to Palmer. Palmer ran the last 10 yards with only two in pursuit.

Bet bobbled the ball only two plays later, after Stann knocked him down with a vicious tackle. Dave Harmon made five yards to the Bangor 39 and Myers carried twice to the 11. He lost a touchdown on his second carry, when an official got in his way. Farris swept left for eight but was knocked out of bounds on the goal line and shaken up. He left the game briefly.

Harmon scored on the next play and the Cavaliers were on top 39-0.

Neither team did much until midway through the fourth quarter. Then Reimer returned a Cavalier punt on the 13, a 20 yard carry. Bet gained four and Parsons went nine for the TD. There was still 5:45 left in the game.

It took the Cavaliers only 16 seconds to get the touchdown back. Myers caught the kick-off on the 10, a handoff, got a brisk block by Steele and raced down the grandstand sideline for the score.

Bangor's last score was set up by an 18 yard pass from Terry Wildrick to Parsons that moved the ball to the Cavalier 19. Sherwood Heard added eight on a sweep and Wildrick rolled out for 10 more. LaBar cracked over for the score.

Yanks Nip Bosox 2-1; Maris Held

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris went hitless in four tries Friday night, failing to get home run No. 61 while the American League champion New York Yankees were beating the Boston Red Sox 2-1 on Johnny Blanchard's homer in the fourth and run-producing single in the ninth.

Maris now has two games remaining in which to get the homer that would make him the only player in major league baseball history to hit more home runs in one season than Babe Ruth.

The Bambino set the game's most revered record with 60 homers in 1927.

Maris, of course, cannot break the Babe's record under Commissioner Ford Frick's 154-game ruling.

Whitely Ford (25-4) started for the Yankees in his final tuneup for the World Series beginning Wednesday against the Cincinnati Reds, and left after six innings. He held the Red Sox scoreless on four hits, striking out nine for a season total of 210.

At Ripe Age of 71 Casey's Back In Baseball; Signs To Manage Mets

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, fired last year by the New York Yankees because he was too old, returned to baseball Friday at the age of 71 as manager of the New York Mets of the National League.

Stengel finally agreed to come back for at least one year in an early morning telephone conversation with his old boss, George Weiss, president of the Mets whom the Yankees retired last fall at the age of 65. Stengel was home in Glendale, Calif., where he spent the past year writing his memoirs and tending to his banking business.

No salary terms were announced, as usual. Weiss offered a brisk "no comment" when asked if Casey would get as high a salary as the $80,000 the Yankees reportedly paid him.

"Casey wanted a one-year contract," Weiss said at a news conference in the Mets office. "He told me 'If I like it and you want me, we will have no difficulties after that.'"

Meet Monday

Weiss said he hoped Stengel would be in New York Monday for a meeting with the scouts to go over the lists of players that will be made available by the other National League clubs. The actual selection will be made by the New York team and the new Houston team the day after the World Series ends.

"Casey is an ideal man to handle the type of team we will inherit," said Weiss. "There are bound to be older men on the way out. We don't expect too many budding (Mickey) Mantles in this grab bag. You've got to have a fellow they can respect and look up to."

The return of Stengel reunited the old team that was so successful with the Yankees where Stengel, working under Weiss, won 10 pennants in 12 years and seven World Series. They have been friends since the 1920s when Weiss operated the New Haven club of the old Eastern League and Stengel managed Worcester, Mass. Both were put out to pasture by the Yankees after the 1960 World Series defeat by Pittsburgh.

WINNING WARRIORS—East Stroudsburg State College, winner of its first two Pennsylvania State College football games this season, meets powerful West Chester tonight at East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium. The Warriors starting line will have (from the left) — Ed (Roadblock) Becker, Bruce Thomas,

Jack Casselbaum, Warren Swartwood, Art Shisler, Russ Rogers and Moe Barber. In the backfield it will be Toby Barkman (38), Joe Heverin, Bill Lewis (21) and Billy Race (22). Henry Mowery may start in place of Race on offense. (Staff photo by MacLeod)

Tonight At Memorial Stadium

Warrior, W. Chester Tilt Features 4 All-Americans

THERE will be four Little All-Americans on the field tonight when East Stroudsburg State College faces West Chester at East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium.

Joe (Cyclone) Iacone, Jim Pribula and Vince Bonkoski earned All-America tags at West Chester last year, while the Warriors' Ed (Roadblock) Becker was also named to the select team.

Iacone was the leading ground gainer in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics and the small college division of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. last year. Pribula was the leading scorer in the conference and one of the top point scorers in the country, while Bonkoski ranked high in the passing department.

May Be Decider
Tonight's game may well decide the Eastern Division of the Conference, since Bloomsburg is the only other top rated conference opponent either the Warriors or Rams face.

East Stroudsburg will be at full strength tonight, after several players yesterday received doctor's approval to play. The two most doubtful performers were tackle Russ Rogers and guard Art Shisler. Rogers twisted a knee against Kutztown and Shisler suffered what was thought to be a broken hand. But a series of x-rays were negative and Shisler was given permission to play. However, the Northampton senior will play only on offense.

Halfback Toby Barkman, the leading scorer in the conference with 10 points, is still bothered by a severe cold, that doctors said may have been pneumonia. However, Barkman will start on offense along with fullback Joe Heverin, who was sidelined in the first half of the Kutztown game with heat fatigue.

Rams Favored

West Chester, which went unbeaten last year, has been installed as a 17 to 24 point favorite by several national rating systems.

The game is expected to be a sell-out with standing room along the sidelines. Advance tickets will be on sale from 9 a.m. until noon today in the athletic office of the East Stroudsburg gymnasium. Only adult tickets will be sold in advance. However, student tickets will be on sale when the ticket booths open at the stadium at 7 p.m., an hour before kickoff.

East Stroudsburg went through its final practice yesterday afternoon, polishing its offense and completing final adjustments for West Chester.

Starting Squad

Becker and Moe Barber will be the starting ends tonight, with Rogers and Bruce Thomas at tackles. The guards are Shisler and Jack Casselbaum, with Warren Swartwood at center.

Billy Lewis, who has scored three touchdowns this year and passed for three more, will be the quarterback with Barkman and Henry (The Dancer) Mowery at halfbacks and Heverin at fullback. Heverin will go on offense only tonight. Freshman Jerry Wasilechak from Jessup will handle Heverin's linebacking post.

Casselbaum will play on both offense and defense taking over Shisler's normal two-way job.

American Horse Champ May Be Crowned In Woodward

NEW YORK (AP)—Kelso, Carry Back and four other horses were entered for the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes Saturday at Belmont Park, where an American champion for 1961 may be crowned.

Kelso, 4-year-old star from Mrs. Richard C. Du Pont's Bohemia Stable, is the odds-on favorite for the 1 1/4 mile event. Odds-on favorites have gone down to defeat in the last five runnings of the race.

However, if Kelso is in his usual form, he should be able to handle his rivals, including Mrs. Katherine Price's 3-year-old champion, Carry Back.

Odds-makers listed Kelso at 4-5, and there are those who believe the final figure may be 3-5. Carry Back is second choice at 3-1. C. V. Whitney's Tompon, winner of the Aqueduct Handicap, is next at 4-1, while Eddie Burke's Whodunit is tabbed at 6-1. Rounding out the field are Llangollen Farm's Divine Comedy, 8-1, and Gustav Ring's Troubadour 3rd, 30-1.

Carry Back will pack 120 pounds. The older horses each have 126. With six starters the race will gross $110,600, the winner collecting $71,800.

Former Series Players To Air 1961 Classic

TWO FORMER World Series participants are among the commentators for NBC's television and radio coverage of the 1961 World Series between the New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds, starting Wednesday, Oct. 4.

The Series broadcasters, announced by Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick, will be:

- On television—Mel Allen and Joe Garagiola.
On radio—Waite Hoyt and Bob Wolff.
Hoyt pitched for the Yanks in six classics, in 1921, 1922, 1923, 1926, 1927 and 1928, and for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1931. He is now the radio announcer for Cincinnati. Garagiola was the St. Louis Cardinals' catcher in the 1946 Series. He now broadcasts the St. Louis games and is one of the commentators for NBC-TV's weekend "Major League Baseball" contests.
NBC-TV will televise the entire Series in color. All games will begin at 1 p.m. local time.

College Grid Kickoff Story

THE STORY of a college athletic director, with Jesse Hill of the University of Southern California as the subject and guest, will be presented on "College Football Kickoff" over ABC-TV Saturday, Oct. 7 (5:15 p.m., EDT).
Chris Schenkel is the host for the program which will immediately precede ABC-TV's N.C.A.A. Football telecast of the Iowa-Southern California grid game.

The program will show the duties of an athletic director and trace the career of Hill.

Girlfriend's Roving Eye

FOR THE first time since he started in college, Mike Douglas stops in at home and raves about his new girlfriend, Mary Beth Jackson, in "The Crush" on "My Three Sons" Thursday, Oct. 12 (ABC-TV, 9:30 p.m., EDT).

When Mike reluctantly introduces Mary Beth she selects a different member of the Douglas Clan as the object of her affection.

Weekend Video Highlights

TWO NEW children's show debut this morning, with "Video Village," modeled on the daily adult version, being sent kids each week at 10 on ch. 2 and 10, with Monty Hall as "Mayor," Eileen Barton as "Assistant Mayor" and Ken Williams as "Town Crier"; and 11:30 on ch. 6 and 7 brings the premiere of "Maggie Ranch," when each week sleight-of-hand artist Don Alan plays host to a guest magician.

Lloyd Bridges, as Mike Nelson, is assisted by Ken Curtis and Jan Harmon, portraying a Marine biologist and a photographer, in the underwater search for a monster of the deep on "Sea Hunt" at 7 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10. . . . Karl Held makes his first appearance as an occasional regular when the "Perry Mason" series starts its fifth season at 7:30 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10 and Raymond Burr, in the title role, investigates a blackmailer's murder which takes him to a bongo drummer's "pad" and to a bookmaking parlor.

John Larch, Oscar Homolka, Nehemiah Persoff, Hermione Gingold and Peter Whitney star in the second part of "The Assassination Plot at Tehenan" at 7:30 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7, drama which describes how the C.I.C. foiled the rumored Nazi attempt to assassinate the Big Three. . . . Dale Robertson continues as star of "Wells Fargo," which expands to a full hour at 7:30 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4 with "Casket 7.3," when Jim Hange attempts to thwart the plot by Southerner Justin Brox to ruin the country as retribution for the South's defeat in the Civil War.

Walter Cronkite narrates the "You Are There" history documentary "Tragedy of John Milton" at 8 p.m. on ch. 11, when a new king ascends the throne of England and the famous poet Milton flees into hiding. . . . Hugh Beaumont and Barbara Billingsley, as Ward and June Cleaver, panic when they realize that Wally is old enough to be going steady in the first show of the new season on "Leave It To Beaver," co-starring Jerry Mathers and Tony Dow, at 8:30 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7.

Susan Hayward, Ava Gardner and Gregory Peck star in "The Snows of Kilimanjaro," the "Saturday Night at the Movies" presentation at 9 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4. . . . Now in an hour-long format, "Gunsmoke," starring James Arness, Dennis Weaver, Milburn Stone and Amanda Blake, begins its seventh season at 10 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10.

'Success Story'

WHEN Victor Kane left the town of Sunrise many years ago, he was a poor young lad, but on his return he's a fabulous tycoon trying to obtain the only thing missing from his "complete happiness" in "Success Story" on "Bus Stop" Sunday, Oct. 15 (ABC-TV, 9:10 p.m. EDT).

"PASSWORD"—Host Allen Ludden (standing) tests guest celebrities Kitty Carlisle (second from left) and Tom Poston (second from right) and members from the studio audience on their word skills on "Password," premiering Monday, Oct. 2 (2:00-2:30 p.m., EDT) on the CBS Television Network.
